AMT Certification
A Guide to Allied Health Certification
Why Certify?

Certification is becoming a must-have in today’s healthcare industry. Besides federal requirements like electronic health records (EHRs) and the Meaningful Use rule, employers want assurance that their employees are qualified. They rely on certification as a third-party attestation that an employee possesses the skills and knowledge to successfully perform a specific job. In addition, studies have shown that certified allied healthcare professionals have higher salaries and better promotion opportunities.

Obtaining and maintaining certification and engaging in continuing education throughout your allied health career tells your employer that you:

- Are committed to your profession because you continue to learn and grow
- Have met third-party standards that verify your skills and competence
- Are dedicated to maintaining quality in your workplace

These qualities speak volumes about your professionalism.

Certification is an essential cornerstone of your career. Let AMT be your partner in this important journey.

Watch employers, schools and members tell us why they prefer AMT Certification.

Maintain Competency through CCP

AMT requires that you maintain current competency for as long as you are working in your professional field. Our Certification Continuation Program (CCP) helps you achieve this goal.

AMT members must acquire a specific number of points in continuing education (CE), or other acceptable avenues, in order to maintain certification, and be CCP compliant.

The number of points required in any given three-year compliance period varies by certification.

Complying with CCP is easy!

A variety of activities can be used to comply with CCP. The table on the right shows a few options.

At the end of your three-year CCP period, you will be asked to attest to obtaining the required number of points. You do NOT need to submit documentation at that time but should keep it handy in case you are audited.

There is no additional CCP fee at each three-year cycle.

AMT offers our members a variety of educational opportunities, including:

- STEP Online
- Webinars
- On-demand Courses
- AMT State Society Meetings
- AMT Annual Education Program & National Meeting
- Publications

Examples of non-AMT CE activities which could qualify for CCP include:

- Attending CE sessions at work, outside of work, or online. Examples include:
  - CPR training
  - HIPAA training
  - Safety training
  - In-service from drug reps
- Other CE activities such as:
  - College classes
  - Developing and presenting a technical session
  - Writing an article
To help you track CCP points, you can use AMTrax – an online tracking system that is absolutely free!

If you don’t use AMTrax, you’ll need to attest to reaching your required points by completing a form. AMT sends you reminders and the form at the appropriate time. No need to send in supporting paperwork, but AMT performs audits so we may ask for proof at a later time.

Instantly track CCP points with AMTrax!

- If you take AMT online courses, your credits are automatically logged through AMTrax.
- Any non-AMT CE or work experience should be logged in as you go.
- Once you reach your required CCP points, AMTrax automatically marks you as compliant – there is no need to fill out any forms!
- Print your transcript at any time
- Use your AMT login to access AMTrax through My Homepage
